

Product Image and Details

Non-Contact Infrared Thermometer

The Non-Contact Infrared Thermometer is exactly what you need. It features a rapid response and a fever alert alarm along with a color screen that will show green if the temperature is normal or turn red if you have a fever. This thermometer is super simple to use, all you do is point the thermometer at someone's forehead and click the scan button and voila, you get their temperature.

- FDA Approved – Certificates Available
- Class 2 Certification - Approved for Medical/Personal Use
- Point, Press, & Get Temp
- Non-Contact
- Fever Indicator
- Rapid Response
- Batteries Included

OnePoint is part of Proforma, a $500 million-dollar 3rd party global supply chain management company. We help companies increase brand awareness and reduce costs by optimizing their purchases for uniforms, marketing products and protective gear through a fully integrated one-source E-commerce platform. Whether you need one or many of our services, you can take advantage of our buying power, technology, and knowledge of procurement to maximize your savings.